

An Afternoon of Dermatology

October 31, 2023 | 12 PM - 4:30 PM

12:00 PM	Lunch and Registration
1:00 PM	Welcome and Overview
1:05 PM	"Body parts" - A scarily fun Hallowe'en dermatology interactive quiz
1:35 PM	New Topicals for Inflammatory Skin Diseases Sonja Molin , MD, Assoc., Prof. Dept. of Medicine, Chair, Div. of Dermatology, Queen's University
2:10 PM	Nutrition Break
2:25 PM	New Acne Therapies Yuka Asai , MD, FRCPC, MSc, DABD, Associate Professor, Department of Medicine, Division of Dermatology, Queen's University
3:00 PM	Management of Itch Thomas Herzinger , MD, Professor, Division of Dermatology, Queen's University
3:35 PM	Quick Hits Yuka Asai , MD, FRCPC, MSc, DABD, Associate Professor, Department of Medicine, Division of Dermatology, Queen's University Thomas Herzinger , MD, Professor, Division of Dermatology, Queen's University
3:55 PM	Q&A Yuka Asai , MD, FRCPC, MSc, DABD, Associate Professor, Department of Medicine, Division of Dermatology, Queen's University Thomas Herzinger , MD, Professor, Division of Dermatology, Queen's University Sonja Molin , MD, Assoc., Prof. Dept. of Medicine, Chair, Div. of Dermatology, Queen's University
4:15 PM	Post-Program Reflection and Survey Completion
4:25 PM	Closing Remarks Yuka Asai , MD, FRCPC, MSc, DABD, Associate Professor, Department of Medicine, Division of Dermatology, Queen's University

Learning Objectives

At the conclusion of this program, participants will be able to:

Integrate dermatology procedural skills into their primary care practice (Medical Expert)

Identify indications and contraindications for performing these procedural skills and when to refer them (Medical Expert/Professional)

Discuss these procedures and their potential outcomes with patients and colleagues (Communicator/Collaborator)

Planning Committee

Yuka Asai, MD, FRCPC, MSc, DABD, Assistant Professor, Department of Medicine, Division of Dermatology, Queen's University

Thomas Herzinger, MD, Professor, Division of Dermatology, Queen's University

Sonja Molin, MD, Associate Professor Department of Medicine, Chair, Division of Dermatology, Queen's University

Emily O'Connor, MD, CCFP, Family Physician, Seeleys Bay Medical Clinic, Seeleys Bay, ON

Richard van Wylick, Vice-Dean, Health Sciences Education, Associate Professor, Department of Pediatrics, Queen's Health Sciences

Terry Soleas, PhD, OCT, BScH, BEd, Director of Continuing Professional Development, Professional Development & Educational Scholarship, Faculty of Health Sciences, Queen's University

Chris Cornish, Program and Event Coordinator, Faculty of Health Sciences, Professional Development and Educational Scholarship, Queen's University

This program has received an educational grant or in-kind support from:

TBC

HEALTH SCIENCES
Faculty Development

385 Princess Street
Kingston, Ontario, Canada K7L 1B9
613-533-2540 | cpd.che@queensu.ca healthsci.queensu.ca/opdes/